FRIENDS OF ALASKA
NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGES

Learn More:

Our Mission

- Educate the public and decision makers about Alaska’s national wildlife refuges.
- Support refuges in accomplishing their efforts through wildlife management and habitat improvement projects.
- Advocate for refuges with Congress and the public.

Imagine a land inhabited by great herds of caribou, majestic polar bears, Dall sheep, moose, and wolves. Imagine a host of chattering sea birds, vast flocks of waterfowl, and rivers teeming with fish. Place them in an equally breathtaking landscape, amid vast stretches of towering mountains, rolling tundra, and a myriad of coastal islands. Beyond imagination is the real thing – Alaska’s national wildlife refuges – waiting for you to explore.

From the smallest 303,094 acre Izembek Refuge to the massive 19.6 million acre Arctic Refuge, Alaska’s refuges provide critical nesting habitat for migratory birds as they travel North across the country.

Benefits of Membership

- Volunteer opportunities for education, advocacy, biology, and maintenance projects happening on all 16 refuges.
- Learn about refuges and wildlife at monthly presentations (in-person and webinars) featuring refuge staff and scientists and through monthly newsletters.
- Experience refuge events like the Kachemak Bay Shorebird Festival, birding outings, wildlife viewing events, film festivals, and education activities.
